DOUBLE TARGETS

M. B. HENRY, VIC REINDERS, MERCER TENNILLE TOPS

TWIN TARGET competition has always been the most rugged of the various standard events in the sport of trapshooting. Naturally, since it takes more concentration and quicker reflexes, fewer shooters participate in the various doubles contests staged throughout the year. Averages are always lower than at 16-yard and handicap targets; nonetheless when a shooter fires in the 90% bracket of averages at double targets this is considered excellent.

During 1955 Maynard B. Henry, Los Angeles attorney and past president of the Amateur Trapshooting Association, ground out the best average in the most-targets-shot-at group, finishing with a fine .9223 which was obtained by firing at a total of 2,950 twin clays and breaking 2,721 of them. Also managing a 90% average in this group was another Los Angelesan, William T. Harrison, who broke 1,806 doubles out of an even 2,000 to wind up with a .9030.

A somewhat phenomenal high average of .9600 was recorded by Mercer Tennille of Shreveport, La., but this was accomplished on only 528 breaks out of 550 targets. Had Tennille maintained this pace and shot at four times the number of twin targets that he did, he undoubtedly would be the doubles king for 1955.

Along with Tennille, shooting at the fewest targets but recording top averages, were two other fellow shooters from Shreveport, Jack Alexander who finished with a .9466 on 568 breaks out of 600 targets, and Merle F. Kemmerly who spanked 612 out of 650 for a .9415 average.

With Henry leading the way in the most-targets-shot-at group and Tennille at the top of the fewest-targets-shot-at group, Victor Reinders, chemistry professor at the University of Winconsin and resident of Waukesha, led the 1,000-to-2,000 target shooters with an excellent average of .9377 which was garnered on 1,688 scratches out of an even 1,800 targets. Following Reinders was Arnold Riegger of Seattle, Wash., who fired a .9313 average on 1,397 breaks out of 1,500 which gave him a top berth in the doubles competition to compliment his other high averages in single and handicap shooting.

For the women, Miss Iva Pembridge, Phillipsburg, Kan. school teacher, was tops among the women regardless of how anyone looks at the women's averages. Miss Pembridge not only was in the group of women shooting at the most targets but also pulled down the highest doubles average—a .9139 on 1,051 breaks out of 1,150, a remarkable feat. In the minimum target range, Lela Hall Frank of Arcadia, Calif., compiled the second best average—an .8553, which was manufactured by slapping down 556 targets out of 650.

In the professional ranks, participation on any major scale was meager. Tom Frye, Remington representative from Sandusky, Ohio, was the most consistent of the pros banging out a .9110 average on 911 targets broken out of 1,000. D. Lee Braun, Winchester representative of San Francisco, shot at 1,050 targets, hitting 941 for an average of .8961.

Cliff Doughman, who represents Winchester out of Morrow, Ohio, produced the top professional doubles average of an even .9400, but this was managed on only 500 targets with 30 misses. Another Winchester helper-in-the-field, George Heaney of Speedway in Indianapolis, plastered 448 out of 500 targets for a modest .8872 average.

James Rexroat shot at the most double targets during 1955—an even 3,700 of them—and got an average of .8897 on this feat by breaking a total of 3,292 of the clays. Claire Schroeder of Van Nuys, Calif. led the women in this category by plastering 1,479 of 2,250 targets for an average of .6573. While her average was low, her total number of doubles displayed her determination to shoot at plenty of twin birds.

Resume of the top high guns at double targets appears in the box below. The high average doubles shooters by states starts on the next page. Complete averages of all shooters firing at twin targets during the 1955 season starts on page 154.

WING SHOOTING, TRAP & SKEET

JIMMY ROBINSON and NED LILLY

LAST YEAR, Jimmy Robinson, internationally famed shooting authority of Sports Afield Magazine who writes duck hunting news for TRAP & FIELD plus other interesting stories on shooting, came out with his fourth book, WING SHOOTING, TRAP and SKEET. In it you will find 224 pages with stories of all Grand Americans since 1941, plus a ready reference of authentic trap records, state champions, and over 200 photos of leading shooters. Between its covers you will also find information on how to run a gun club, money shooting, how to conduct Hunters' Specials, skeet shooting, and several chapters on How To Hunt Waterfowl and Upland Game.

The first chapter, "Secret of Wing Shooting," was written by Robert Churchill, famous gun manufacturer of London, England. It also includes a chapter on Live Pigeon shooting by Homer Clark, Jr., twice world's live pigeon champion—Harold Russell on Skeet—Joe Davison on Trapshooting—Henry P. Davis, world's greatest dog authority, on It's Fun to Train a Hunting Dog—Shotgun Tips by Fred Etchen—Duck Calls on Decoys by Walt Bush—The Story of Ducks Unlimited—Olympic Trapshooting Champions—Past Grand American Live Pigeon Champions—and other interesting shotgun information.

The book may be the greatest all-around shotgun book ever printed—certainly one to be cherished by the target-shoot and hunter. A double page spread of Roger Preuss' four-color painting is one of the sparkling illustrations in the book. You'll want it for your library, or give it as a gift for your target and hunting friends. Only 500 left. After these are sold, there will be no more printed. For a quick rundown on the chapters, here is what you will find:

Ralph Jenkins (left) looks at a target that looks like the one he smashed to smithereens when he fired at his 200,000 registered 16-yard target during 1959. Congratulating him are two who were firing in the same squad when the momentous shot was fired: his son, Bill (center) and grandson Ralph Warren.
